

Worthwhile Waiting

aus dem Album "Quitter" von Moes Anthill (2019)

I'm cold and heavy
My steps are unsteady
I feel like my very own marching band
I wade through the sea of decadency
I'm digging a hole for idiocracy

Sun halo above
I'm losing one glove
I'm losing my time
Dime after dime

With a song for the deuce
Preserving the blues
We strike together
And march together

It's worthwhile waiting – keep baiting
It's worthwhile waiting – our magnificence
It's worthwhile waiting – keep baiting
It's worthwhile waiting – our magnificence

The hoarse voice as a proof of my loyalty to stupidity
And all the madness and weirdness makes totally sense
To me and to us all
There's only one big step to the fall

It's worthwhile waiting – keep baiting, keep baiting
It's worthwhile waiting – our magnificence, our magnificence
It's worthwhile waiting – keep baiting, keep baiting
It's worthwhile waiting – I'm glad you made, glad you made it here
I'm glad you made it here, I'm glad you made it here!

I'm cold and heavy
My steps are unsteady
I feel like my very own marching band
I wade through the sea of decadency
I'm digging a hole for idiocracy

Sun halo above
I'm losing one glove
I'm losing my time
Dime after dime

With a song for the deuce
Preserving the blues
We strike together
And march together

It's worthwhile waiting – keep baiting, keep baiting
It's worthwhile waiting – our magnificence, our magnificence
It's worthwhile waiting – keep baiting, keep baiting
It's worthwhile waiting – I'm glad you made, glad you made it here

I'm glad you made it here, I'm glad you made it here!

When was the last time you woke up as clear as the sun goes down in wintertime?
When was the last time you woke up as clear as the sun goes down in wintertime?